Sarcastic

Of course it's right for every British person.

But I can't miss saying that 'being sarcastic' is one of British people's general personalities.

I sometimes feel this sense
from Mev

Lately.

Mev couldn't decide whether to wear his coat or not because of the differing weather.

He thought he would be cold
not to wear a coat.

But he would be too hot and sweaty
if he wears a coat
while he rides his bicycle.

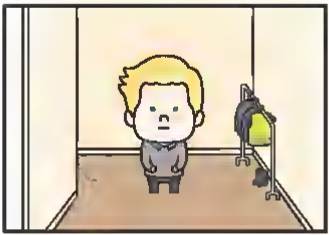
So, I suggested that he wears this vest.

What?
Why what? It doesn't have sleeves, so it wouldn't make you too hot.

But it's too thin. So it's just like wearing nothing.

We couldn't agree with each other.

I left the room..



In a bit...

Penguin
I'm ready to go OK.

What do you think?

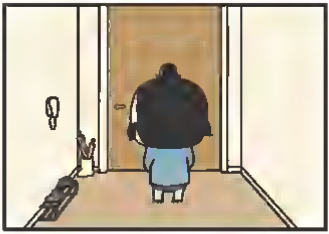
I'm wearing a hankie.

It'll keep me warm. Right?



He was being sarcastic.
